

Earn Your ABR Designation Accredited Buyer Representative

The National Association of REALTORS® awards the coveted ABR® Designation, the benchmark of excellence in buyer representation, to real estate practitioners who meet specified educational and practical experience criteria.

How to obtain the ABR® Designation

Step 1: Complete the two-day course in Buyer representation & pass a written, supervised exam on the legal & practical aspects of agency.

Step 2: Complete a one-day elective course (choose from 3 topics) & pass a written, supervised exam.

Step 3: Present documentation to NAR of five completed, verifiable transactions in which you, the ABR® candidate, represented the buyer (this may be completed within 36 months of taking the course).

Step 4: Be a member in good standing of the National Association of REALTORS®.
